In a very deep and rough gorge, which begins at the Venetia plain and leads up to the Valdastica plateau, signs of primitive tribes can be found on both sides of the gorge. The walls of the gorge, which are over a thousand meters long, are inhabited by wild animals and mysterious creatures. In the gorge, visitors can find remains of ancient dwellings, petroglyphs, and carvings on the rocks. Another place mentioned is the "Cave of the Witches," where the spirits of dead witches are said to live. The cave is located near the town of Latisana and is known for its mysterious tales and legends.
