

Hospitality in Family Homes

B & B

2009

Breakfast is served!

Dear guests,

We are proud to present the 2009 edition of the annual brochure from the “Quality Bed & Breakfast in Trentino” Association.

This year we have something new for you: our breakfasts will be even more delicious than ever! We are now officially authorised to serve food prepared with our own hands: over the past year, our members have attended specific courses for handling food and serving guests as an added guarantee of quality. So now, our breakfasts – prepared using strictly local produce – will be something really worth writing home about! We are dedicated to offering warm family hospitality at a competitive price. In fact, most of our B&Bs still apply the same prices that they did in 2005! Of course, many of you will have realised this, as more and more of our guests keep coming back to visit us – sometimes even more than once during the same year. This fills us with pride and spurs us on to continue to improve our service which, while small in size – with a maximum of 3 rooms per B&B – is now an established reality with many satisfied guests. Sixty four B&Bs have chosen to join our way of thinking. These are dotted throughout both popular tourism destinations and less well known valleys which, however, have just as much to offer. Many of our B&Bs boast environmental quality certification, others are associated with Wine and Flavours Routes while others still express their individuality through formulas created specifically for their guests. And while the spectacle of nature is our territory’s greatest asset, there are also many cultural attractions on offer. Trentino is also the perfect training ground for practising a wide variety of summer and winter sports. In addition to the more traditional sports, these include activities ranging from the less challenging to the more adventurous (why not even try a few for yourself?). The owners of the “Quality Bed & Breakfast in Trentino” B&Bs look forward to welcoming you into their families, offering you the quality you’d expect from home... with that added magic touch!

Enrica Bettini ,

President of the Association
“Bed & Breakfast di Qualità in Trentino”

The Family Hospitality Charter

The “Quality Bed & Breakfast in Trentino” Association, was established by the owner in collaboration with the Autonomous Province of Trento to provide an excellent service in the Trentino accommodation circuit.

The management committee assess applications to join the Club and organise the training of members, without neglecting promotional activities. Everyone agrees to respect the guidelines of the Club set out in the “Family Hospitality Charter”, a document establishing some priorities, as for example some structural requirements. All the bedrooms must comply to a minimum size and be adequately furnished. The bathrooms in some cases may be shared with the family. The managerial parameters cover daily room cleaning, change of bedroom and bathroom linen, an extensive and appetising breakfast with local and guaranteed quality products with preference for Trentino specialities. Moreover, the owner agrees to be always on hand and to offer a warm welcome and make the guest feel at home and provide all the information on the house rules and the location. Easy terms of payment have been established, which the owner agrees to respect (under three year-olds sharing a room with parents free of charge; special prices for 4 to 10 year-olds; reductions for third bed and for double room used as a single). The questionnaire monitoring the satisfaction of guests, besides controlling the quality, permits a constant feedback from the client. An essential part of the Association’s philosophy is respect for the environment, therefore the service is also based on inviolable aspects such as conservation and harmony with nature, which has always been an important part of the Trentino culture. Twelve Bed & Breakfasts have adhered to the philosophy of the EU “Ecolabel” scheme that awards a quality mark to ecologically friendly products and efficient services. A demonstration of the value of hospitality in a “Quality Bed & Breakfast in Trentino” as a form of tourism on the side of the environment, which promotes the quality of the services and enhancement of the various products and local resources.

GETTING TO TRENTO

You can reach Trentino from the north and south either by rail (Verona-Brenner-Munich) or on the A22 Brenner motorway. The nearest airports to Trento are the “Dolomiti S. Giacomo” in Bolzano (57 km), the Valerio Catullo in Verona (90 km), the Gabriele d’Annunzio in Brescia (135 km), the Marco Polo in Venice (163 km), the Orio al Serio in Bergamo (180 km) and the Linate and Malpensa airports in Milan (about 250 km).

Local transport includes bus services run by the “Trentino Trasporti” and two minor railways, the Trento-Venice through Valsugana and the Trento-Malé serving Val di Non and Val di Sole.

Rovereto, Vallagarina, Altopiano di Brentonico, Valle di Gresta, Vallarsa

The crossroads of traffic and people travelling along the main Brenner road, Vallagarina is an attractive and hospitable valley of gentle hillsides covered with grapevines, deep green in summer and golden in autumn. Besides the beauty of the landscape, this area, on the southern borders of Trentino, has an interesting historical and cultural heritage and a thriving agricultural production. Vallagarina is the land of castles, many of which can be seen passing through the valley from south to north; undoubtedly the most impressive ones are Sabbionara d'Avio, Noarna in Nogaredo, Castel Pietra in Calliano and lastly Castel Beseno. There are also more recent historical remains like the trenches of the First World War dug in the rocks and chasms of Monte Pasubio. The main centre of the valley is Rovereto, a perfect synthesis of modern and ancient styles. Strolling through the narrow streets and lanes of the historic centre you can find evidence of the Venetian domination. The principle attractions are the Mart, Museum of Modern and Contemporary Art, the "Maria Dolens" Bell of the Fallen, fused with the bronze of cannons used in the First World War and a significant symbol of peace, and the austere Castel Veneto, which hosts the Italian War History Museum, one of the most important in Italy. You can explore Vallagarina step by step along the Wine and Flavours Route, two hundred kilometres of food and wine itineraries, of taste and skilled knowledge expressed in agricultural and winemaking productions of top quality. About 40% of all the vineyards in Trentino are cultivated here and the dedication for winemaking in the area immediately attracts the visitor's attention. The best of this production is Marzemino, a fine red wine made with native grapes, praised by Mozart in "Don Giovanni". Among the other specialities on the Route are the Castione chestnuts grown on the Altopiano di Brentonico, the fragrant Vezzena mountain cheese, still produced as in bygone times on the Altipiani di Folgaria, Lavarone and Luserna and the vegetables of Val di Gresta. This little side valley, lying in the last offshoots of the Bondone-Stivo mountain range, close to Lake Garda, between Vallagarina and Valle del Sarca, is worth a visit. To the traveller's eye it appears as a vast terraced amphitheatre and is known as the organic vegetable garden of Trentino.

In the last twenty years a lot has been done here to improve the agriculture with innovative organic and integrated cultivation methods. The people living in Val di Gresta assure their guests of a sincere and warm welcome. It is the ideal place to discover all aspects of country life by participating in the activities promoted by the educational farms, or simply enjoy the gentle landscape walking or pedalling on the slopes of Mount Stivo.

VALLARSA

Upper Garda, Valle di Ledro, Valle dei Laghi, Terme di Comano, Valli Giudicarie, Valle Rendena, Paganella

An amazingly varied landscape, where the uncontaminated greenery of the woods gives way to the blue waters of Lake Garda, at the foot of the scenic dolomite peaks of Brenta and Adamello. It is this diversity of environments that makes south-western Trentino incomparable, from the Mediterranean climate and vegetation of Upper Garda to the typically alpine valleys of the Giudicarie and Rendena. The Valli Giudicarie take in the Chiese river basin to its mouth in Lake Idro, and the river Sarca to the Limarò gorge. At the foot of the Brenta Dolomites lies Terme di Comano, a healthy place known since ancient Roman times. Val Rendena, in the unspoilt environment of the Adamello-Brenta Nature Park, is a paradise for sports and nature lovers. Small picturesque villages are dotted all the way along the valley. Among these Caderzone has recently been given the Orange Flag of the Italian Touring Club for its quality and sustainable tourist offer. A very interesting cultural itinerary takes you around the Baschenis churches, small religious buildings frescoed by a well-known family of painters, natives of Bergamo, in the 15th and 16th century. On the other side of Brenta is the Altopiano della Paganella, most of which lies within the Adamello-Brenta Nature Park and comprises three important resorts, Andalo, Fai della Paganella and Molveno. Thanks to its lake, Molveno is one of the most attractive places on the plateau and has recently been awarded the Orange Flag of the Italian Touring Club.

Lastly Garda Trentino, an area with plenty of opportunities for those who love the relaxing atmosphere of lakes and a choice of watersports. Besides Lake Garda, this corner of the region preserves many other expanses of water, such as Ledro, known above all for its Bronze Age lake dwelling area, Lake Cavedine and Lake Toblino with its romantic 16th century castle built on medieval foundations. The landscape is also endowed with the rugged landscape of the Marocche and picturesque villages, like the medieval Canale di Tenno and Rango, recently listed among the most beautiful villages of Italy. Besides the beautiful scenery, these valleys offer many sports activities such as mountaineering, skiing and climbing, without forgetting trekking, which attracts a great number of enthusiasts. The diverse climates and environments have contributed to the agricultural skill of the local people who, over the years, have created a food and wine heritage, today enhanced by the Wine and Flavours Route from Lake Garda to the Brenta Dolomites. Among the excellent produce of this area the Spressa delle Giudicarie D.O.P., one of the oldest cheeses in the Alps, produced exclusively in Val Rendena and in the Giudicarie, the Garda Trentino Extra Virgin Olive Oil, Storo Yellow Flour, Bleggio walnuts, the sweet and juicy Drò plums; trout, Carne Salada (salted meat) and the unusual Ciuga del Banale, a sausage made with pork and boiled white turnips. The pride of Valle dei Laghi is the Trentino D.O.C. Vino Santo produced with Nosiola grapes.

PAGANELLA

Val di Sole, Val di Non

Val di Non and Val di Sole are two neighbouring valleys united by an unpolluted environment and abundance of water, plus food and wine traditions enhanced by the Apples and Flavours Route. Crossed by the river Noce, Val di Non is a succession of three plateaus, separated by deep gorges and ravines. The distinct feature of the valley are the apple orchards, which here have reached a level of excellence recognised throughout Italy and are a wonderful sight in blossom time. Worth a visit the numerous castles, among which Castel Thun, and the alpine sanctuaries, the most famous one being the ancient architectural complex of San Romedio. Particularly interesting are the museums like the one in Ronzone, in the upper valley, which has an ethnographic section of customs and uses of the Val di Non community, a section on alpine fauna and another displaying period postcards portraying this area.

Surrounded by the Brenta, Adamello and Ortles-Cevedale mountain chains, Val di Sole, instead, features the typical landscape of an alpine valley of glacial origin. The dominating feature is water; first the river Noce that flows down the bottom of the valley and is the ideal playground for canoe, kayak and rafting enthusiasts, and secondly all the other sparkling streams and sheer waterfalls dotting the landscape. Some of these waters have special characteristics and feed the Pejo and Rabbi spa establishments. A third of the valley is an integral part of the Adamello Brenta Nature Park and Stelvio National Park. Here visitors can enjoy the incomparable scenery of majestic woods of forest trees and a wealth of flora. Apart from the magical and regenerating environment, the valley also has an interesting historical and traditional heritage. Examples of this are the churches scattered throughout the area, many of which preserve precious wooden altars, the Museum of the Val di Sole Civilisation and the Strino Fort, on the road to Tonale, an admirable testimony of the First World War, which hosts a permanent museum on the white war fought in these mountains. Not to be forgotten the numerous possibilities for lovers of mountain sports, in particular skiing, trekking and mountaineering.

The two valleys offer visitors a wide range of traditional gastronomic products along the itinerary of the Apples and Flavours Route. Apples are the main theme of this route winding through the territory. The Golden Delicious, Renetta Canada and Red Delicious varieties are the only ones in Italy boasting the D.O.P. mark which certifies their quality and uniqueness. The dairy produce is also of good quality and includes the Trentingrana, the star of Trentino cheeses, and Casolét, a rarity produced exclusively in Val di Sole. A particular smoked sausage called the Mortandèla is another speciality of Val di Non.

Piana Rotaliana, Valle dell'Adige, Trento

Bounded on the south by Vallagarina and on the north by the province of Bolzano, Valle dell'Adige encompasses the whole of the valley floor through which its river flows. The most important centre is Trento, a town of Roman origins and the link between the Latin and Middle-European cultures. The capital is rich in cultural and artistic testimonies. The symbol of Trento is Buonconsiglio Castle, the residence of the Prince Bishops since the 13th century and composed of several buildings. The most interesting part is the Magno Palazzo with its refined frescoes and elegant loggias. Also of great interest is the Romanesque cathedral dedicated to Saint Vigilio and facing Piazza del Duomo dominated by the Neptune fountain and surrounded by ancient frescoed palazzos. The gentle hills around the city are covered in vineyards, mostly of Chardonnay grapes used to make the Spumante TRENTO-DOC, the principal product of the Trento Wine and Flavours Route and one of the top expressions of national sparkling wines. The city is dominated by Mount Bondone, a winter and summer tourist destination. In the warmest months it offers a wide range of itineraries in the woods and fields and in winter you can ski here on pistes of varying difficulty.

For wine enthusiasts a trip along the Wine and Flavours Route of the Piana Rotaliana, north of the capital, is an absolute must. Here the native Teroldego vine, cultivated in the large fertile plain, produces an intense and full-bodied red wine. This area is considered to be a wine-making centre of international importance owing to the existence of the renowned wineries of still and sparkling wines and the presence of the centenary Agricultural Institute of San Michele all'Adige. Other local products are the white asparagus of Zambana and the Trentino Grappa made with Teroldego marcs. Worth a visit is the Museum of Uses and Customs of the Trentino People in San Michele all'Adige, hosted in the ancient monastery of the Provost.

It is one of the most important Italian centres of local ethnography and reconstructs the everyday life of the Trentino rural community: agriculture, crafts, folklore, religious devotion and traditions. North-east of Trento stretches the captivating Val di Cembra with vineyard terraces where the Müller Thurgau grape has found a natural habitat and produces a fragrant and very aromatic wine of excellent quality. This wine and Trentino Grappa are the pride of the Wine and Flavours Route of the Avisio Hills, Faedo and Valle di Cembra.

VALLE DELL'ADIGE

Val di Fiemme, Val di Fassa, San Martino di Castrozza

Encompassed by the Eastern Dolomites, the valleys of Fiemme and Fassa are among the most well-known resorts of Trentino owing to the beauty of their natural landscapes. Their valleys feature some of the most important dolomite mountains, such as Sella, Catinaccio, the Torri del Vajolet, the Marmolada and Latemar, together with a vast forest property and huge expanses of green pasturelands. The outstanding holiday offer of the two valleys includes a wide range of winter and summer sports, such as skiing, cross-country, skating, cycling, trekking, horse riding, mountaineering, golf and fishing. Tourism, however, is not the only strongpoint of this region, which has an interesting cultural heritage. Val di Fassa is one of the five Ladin communities in the Dolomites and its culture has been promoted and protected for over thirty years by the Ladin Cultural Institute. Evidence of this tradition is conserved in the Fassa Ladin Museum where scenes of the daily life of the community have been reconstructed.

Val di Fiemme, instead, has a strong independent tradition evidenced by the centuries-old existence of the Magnifica Comunità di Fiemme, a system of self-government, which administers the valley's vast forest property.

On the eastern side of Val di Fiemme is Passo Rolle, which leads to Primiero and Valle del Vanoi, the eastern border of Trentino. This area winds through very impressive mountain scenery dominated by the magnificent Pale di San Martino. Most of this territory boasts an extraordinary environment and is understandably protected by the Paneveggio Pale di San Martino Nature Park.

Farther south the Lagorai, the largest mountain chain of Trentino, preserves an environment still intact and is the ideal destination for long hikes in its wild and extremely attractive landscape. Lastly the little Valle del Vanoi with its ethnographic path where you can admire the culture, traditions and activities of bygone times. Important features of this alpine area is the zootechnical activity and excellent dairy products. The animals are kept in cowsheds during the winter months and then taken to the mountain pasturelands in summer. So, it is not by chance that the Cheese Route of the Dolomites winds through Val di Fiemme, Val di Fassa and Primiero. The main products of this route are Puzzone di Moena, a protected Slow Food cheese, which has a strong smell and taste and is still based on very old recipes; Nostrano di Fassa, another strong cheese redolent of the mountain pastures where the cows graze; the aromatic Caprino di Cavalese; the Tosèla, a mild cheese best eaten after being browned in a pan or on a hotplate; and Nostrano del Primiero tasting of herbs and strong aromas.

S. MARTINO

Valsugana, Pinè, Valle dei Mocheni

Valsugana, on the eastern side of Trentino, stretches to the borders of Veneto. Visitors to this valley recall its beautiful and varied environments: the lakes, the Lagorai mountain chain, the small side valleys, like Val di Sella and the green Altopiano del Tesino. The tourist offer of the westernmost part of the valley, Upper Valsugana, is highlighted by the lakes of Caldonazzo and Levico, perfect places for watersports, and the spas of Levico and Roncegno, fed by arsenic ferruginous waters with important therapeutic properties. Visitors will find uncontaminated environments in the San Cristoforo, Levico and Roncegno biotopes, natural habitats for many species of aquatic fauna.

Situated in this part of the valley are some forts, built in the late 19th century by the Hapsburg Empire to defend the border from the Italians, and some castles including the one overlooking Pergine. On the left side of the upper valley lies Val dei Mocheni and the Altopiano di Piné. The former is an ideal destination for discovering some of the oldest traditions of Trentino: its population still speak an ancient idiom of German origin and the 'masi', typical mountain farmsteads, preserve the original architecture of stonewalled houses with wooden balconies. The Altopiano di Piné, with the lakes of Ser-raia and Piazze, is chiefly a tourist resort, but also agriculture and craft trades play an important role in the economy of the area. Tesino and Eastern Valsugana are, instead, united by a natural unspoilt landscape dotted with medieval castles and caves.

Pothole enthusiasts are sure to enjoy, for instance, an excursion to the Castello Tesino grotto, known as "Bus de la Lora", a natural karst cavity winding for about four hundred metres through mazes and galleries created inside the mountain over thousands of years. The Eastern Valsugana and Tesino borderlands are also interesting from a cultural point of view. Here you can find simple works of art in the little churches, old military forts and, Arte Sella, a permanent open air exhibition of unusual contemporary artistic constructions made with natural material, among which the most impressive and attractive one is the Vegetal Cathedral.

 APPROXIMATE PRICE: 60 €
 (2 PERS. IN DOUBLE ROOM)

In an eighteenth century house, in the hills at Bosco di Civezzano, this bed and breakfast offers guests a large garden and a fine terrace with views of the Levico and Caldonazzo lakes. The position is ideal for excursions to Trento, and to Valsugana and Valle di Cembra. Nature lovers can also, for the entire year, follow itineraries of both naturalistic and mineral interest, and in winter they can organise snowshoe excursions. Courses are organised in the use of felt.

SEPARATE B&B: sharing part of the house
